The LANTERN
THE YEAR BOOK
OF 1930
PUBLISHED BY
THE SENIOR CLASS
OF
EASTERN HIGH SCHOOL
LANSING·MICHIGAN

Margery Speer

Dedication

To Mr. J. W. Sexton, Superintendent of Lansing Schools, who has made possible the erection of Eastern High School and its successful organization, the Seniors dedicate this 1930 issue of the Lantern.

It is the earnest desire of the departing classes that the worthy precedents and lofty ideals established within the two short years of the school's existence may ever be a credit to Mr. Sexton's noble efforts.

The Theme

The Lantern Board has chosen for the 1930 year book an oriental theme, suggested by the name and location of Eastern High School. The characteristic lanterns throughout the building and the name Lantern, [Lan(sing Eas)tern], lend themselves well to an oriental atmosphere. Aladd of the theme story creates an Aladdin setting, but might be any lad.

FOREWORD

AN EASTERN LANTERN
SHEDS ITS GOLDEN RAYS
UPON THESE OPENING — PORTALS AS ALLAD IS — GUIDED THROUGH THE —
PALACE OF ENCHANTMENT.

Enthroned upon a magnificently . . .
trapped elephant,
Aladd travels in quest of the . . .
heralded school . . .
of the East
Bearing his Lantern, the symbol of . . .
learning, he is . . .
seeking the priceless treasure of . . .
knowledge.

FACULTY

DWIGHT H. RICH, Principal

MARY DERBY, Assistant Principal

As the years pass by the graduates will regard The Lantern as among their most precious possessions. It is of even greater value when it is well planned and worked out accordingly. The seniors are to be congratulated upon the fine quality of this book.

MICHIGAN HONOR TROPHY

The Michigan Honor Trophy is presented at the end of every semester to the boy in the graduating class who best exemplifies the spirit of the school. The trophy is the rectangular plaque pictured above, on which is engraved the name of the winner each semester. It remains the permanent property of the school.

The candidates are picked by a committee consisting of the principal, assistant principal, class adviser, and head coach. Then the winner is chosen by the class from this group. The selection is based on scholarship, leadership and athletics.

The previous winners of the Michigan Honor Trophy have been Evans Boucher, January 1929; Jack Hernly, June 1929; Ernest Howey, January 1930.

FOREMANSHIP AWARD

The Foremanship prize is presented by the Foremen's Club of Lansing to the boy in the Industrial Department of the graduating class who represents the best in the class. The winner of this prize receives tuition for the foremanship course offered by the Chamber of Commerce, with all books paid for. It amounts to about fifty dollars. The selection is based on scholarship and leadership. Seventy-five per cent is based on scholarship while leadership is represented by twenty-five per cent. The applicant must also have a good character. The winner of this prize is selected by a committee from the Industrial Department.

The winners of this prize have been Lazell Satterlee, January 1929; James Packard, June 1929; Stanley Johnson, January 1930; John Vitovsky, June 1930.

NEW AWARDS

A new award was offered this year by the Hi-Y to the girl who best represents her class. The prize is to be based on character, scholarship, leadership, and athletics. The award will be a trophy similar to the Michigan Honor Trophy and will be the permanent possession of Eastern High School.

The Exchange Club of Lansing presented a prize of $50 in gold to the boy and girl who best typifies an ideal citizen of Eastern High.

FAREWELL, FRIEND!

I bring a poem, a song, a book, yes, to an end,
But can not bear to say good-bye, to a friend.
I wonder why the difference is so great.
Is not a friend only a passing mate?

Is not a friend to you, only a passing mate,
To learn some good from his acknowledged trait?
Just like a book to read, then lay aside,
And wonder not if it could prove a guide.

Or are a book and friend the same, the same as one?
Not this—a thing now here, now there, now gone—
But your possession which you'll always keep;
To have, with which to meet a road that's steep.

Oh Senior, though you leave these walls of yours and mine,
Remember friends that are forever thine.
You leave these walls which love has made so dear,
Forget not friendships you created here.

Looking ahead into those years approaching now,
It seems I see a Senior's cloudy brow.
At loss! Oh, where to turn—he does not know—
He needs a friend to show him where to go.

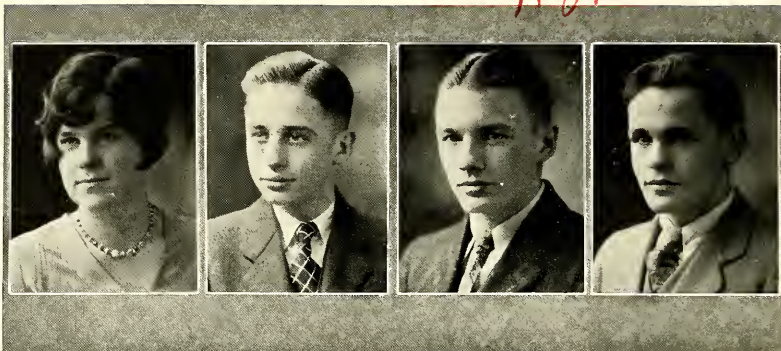

Yes, lose not friends, nor friendships you created here,
A friend might show you to a road that's clear,
A friend might lead where you have lost the way,
Might change dark night into a shining day.

Make thou a friend of God, and earthly friends keep too.
Through life, go on with God and them near you,
Prove thou to be a friend to them also,
Help them along the roads that they must go.

Forever love a book and friend the same as one.
Keep thou thy friends, remember whence they come;
Forever cherish Eastern in your heart,
Farewell, Senior, the time has come to part.

SECOND SEMESTER

The coordinating mechanism of the student body is the Student Council. This council, composed of representatives from the home rooms and classes, strives to secure and maintain efficiency and harmony in Eastern. Many student and school problems have been solved by the council, the most outstanding of which are: the creating of student government, the organizing of student guide work, and the establishment of a safety patrol.

John Young (left) and Guy Mixer (right) are the two student council presidents who have directed the student activities of Eastern during the past year. They have proved themselves worthy in every way of the supreme honor of their position.

THE EASTERNER

The Easterner is the student newspaper published semi-monthly by the youthful journalists of Eastern High. It is indirectly a project of the Journalism Club, from which the staff members are chosen. This publication has played a very important part in fostering the much admired Eastern spirit.

A separate sports department was created this year. It is now an important feature of the paper. The exchange department has grown considerably during the past school year. The Easterner is now exchanged for publications of schools from seventeen states of the Union and also from Cuba, Hawaii, and Alaska. All the other departments—news, editorial, literary, business, and mechanical—have done very creditable work.

COMMERCIAL AWARDS

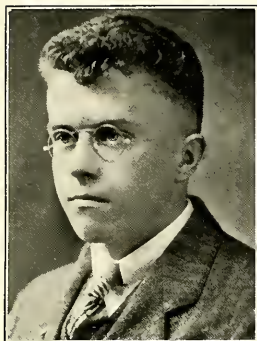

During the first semester of the 1929-30 school year, Eastern's Commercial Department sponsored several contests in shorthand and typing. Preliminary contests were first held in the class rooms, to determine just who should enter the final elimination contests, which would decide the winner. These contests were held in the typewriting and shorthand rooms, after school. Many students participated in the contests, and although all could not win, they all did fine work. The winners of the typewriting contests had their names engraved on a cup which was given by the Motor Wheel Corporation. The shorthand trophy was donated by the Reo Motor Car Company. Eastern is proud of her commercial students who are learning the routine work of the modern business office. A list of the winners follows:

ROBERT PALMITER

ORATORY AND DECLAMATION

Coach Cretcher reports, proudly, that Eastern has had an exceptionally good season in the oratory and declamation contests, due to the efforts of Eldon Bannen and Robert Palmiter. Bannen supported Eastern in the oratorical field, while Palmiter won honors in declamation.

In the first contest, Palmiter tied for first place, and Bannen was a very close third. In the second contest both Palmiter and Bannen received second place, each missing the honor of first place by only one point.

The speeches were delivered in Eastern's large auditorium. The first was a district contest, the second an inter-county contest. Eastern received special recognition because she was the only school of the district to place both her orator and declaimer in the county contest.

Coach Cretcher is to be complimented upon the success of his proteges.

NEGATIVE DEBATE TEAM

The scores for the negative team debates are somewhat misleading. Losing votes do not signify defeat—especially, defeat of purpose. Coach Cretcher's plans for the 1929-30 season were not to produce two winning teams, which would have been entirely possible, but to originate a very worthy precedent in the school. Mr. Cretcher recognized the possibilities of developing a girls' varsity debate team, and undertook that task. Beginning with absolutely raw material, he built up a team which was a credit both to himself and to the school.

At the beginning of the season practice debates were held with East Lansing, Olivet, Eaton Rapids, Holt, Leslie, and Ithaca.

The first league debate was with Flint Northern High. Feeling that an experienced speaker was needed, Mr. Cretcher placed Guy Mixer on the team for temporary second speaker. Evelyn Shipman and Dorothy McDonald were first and third speaker, respectively. Despite the fact that all the speakers on the opposing team had at least three years of debating experience, the debate was by no means one-sided.

In the second league debate, held at Battle Creek High, Evelyn Jarvis, Lela Keener, and Dorothy McDonald represented Eastern. They upheld their side very effectively against experienced speakers of Battle Creek.

Ida Lyons and Millicent Hall were capable reserves for the teams.

Attractive medals like those for the boy's team were awarded. Dorothy McDonald received a silver medal; Evelyn Shipman, Lela Keener, and Evelyn Jarvis, dark bronze; and Ida Lyons and Millicent Hall, bronze art awards.

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATE TEAM

The question used this year by the high school debating league of Michigan was: "Resolved, that a judge or board of judges be substituted for the jury in all trials in the state and municipal courts of Michigan."

At the first of the season Coach Cretcher scheduled several practice debates which got the team in shape for the league debates. These practice debates were held with Leslie, Ithaca, and Olivet.

Eastern's affirmative team consisted entirely of boys. The varsity debaters were Guy Mixer, John Young, Donald Large, and Esee Silverman. William Oding, Michael Spaniola, and Stuart Frankford made up the reserve team.

A glance at the schedule shows that the affirmative team had a successful season, winning both league debates by unanimous decisions. These contests were held with Eaton Rapids and Charlotte, respectively. The individual members of the team as well as their coach, Mr. James Cretcher, are to be congratulated for their splendid showing.

The team loses one excellent debater by graduation—Guy Mixer. The remainder of the squad, fortunately, will continue forensic engagements in at least one more season. John Young showed to excellent advantage the experience he gained on the platform last year. He was one of the sturdiest pillars of the team, and his ingenuity got the Easternites out of many an embarrassing situation. Don Large, Eastern's 1929 declaimer, displayed his ability well in this, his second season on the team. Esee Silverman replaced Don Large in the Charlotte debate. Guy Mixer was the "little stick of dynamite" who carried off the honors at the Charlotte debate. He could talk even the opposing coach into a smile.

The debaters last year were awarded script "L"s, but the awards for 1930 were in the form of medals. Upon the faces of these medals was designed an attractive Greek oratorical figure, and on the back were engraved the occasion, date and individual names. A difference in medals designated the varying lengths of service. John Young was the only member of either team to receive a gold medal. Guy Mixer and Don Large each received a silver award; Esee Silverman one of bronze art. Each member of the reserve team was presented with a similar medal of dark bronze.

GIRLS LEAGUE

The Girls' League of Eastern High School may suggest to you a small group of girls, but it really consists of some five hundred girls divided into smaller groups, each of which is under the direction of one faculty woman. The main purposes of this group have been education, entertainment, and vocational guidance.

During the past year the League heard a number of interesting speeches that undoubtedly will have a far reaching influence:

Miss Carrett discussed the Home Economics department.

Miss Manning told us of the value of the Science department.

Miss Weter gave the description of the Art Course offered to students.

Miss Cline introduced the Commercial Course.

Mr. Rich gave the requirements of colleges.

Miss Cole talked on the subject of "Foreign Language."

Miss Wagenvoord gave an interesting talk on "Teaching as a Profession."

Mrs. Harry Person told of the vocation of "Nursing."

Miss Lackey spoke on the subject, "The Value of Budgets."

These talks were educational as well as entertaining. They aimed to help girls to choose their life vocations and to know more about them. This group of speeches was sponsored mainly by the Vocational Guidance Committee.

Various other committees functioned well throughout the entire year, the Scholarship Committee being perhaps the most active of all. The Welfare Committee attended to visiting the sick. The Conduct Committee promoted friendliness and courtesy in the organization.

STUDENT GUIDES

At the beginning of each semester a chief student guide is appointed by the president of the student council. He chooses his sergeants for each hour of the day who in turn appoint the student guides. It is the duty of these guides to control the corridors in respect to hall permits, lockers, and general conduct of the students. Two officers control the first and second floors while only one has charge of the third floor.

In order that the halls may be orderly, business like, and yet pervaded by a friendly spirit, hall guides, chosen from the student body, seem necessary. They try, at all times, to help Eastern's students in their course of good citizenship, and that each one may say on the day of graduation, "I have profited by being there."

EASTERN SYNCOPATORS

Eastern was most fortunate in having a group of musicians who produced such pleasing tones and harmonies that one felt like dancing. At the semi-monthly hour dances and at all other school functions where syncopated rhythm was in demand, this octet-plus-one was at hand, pealing notes.

These boys called themselves Eastern's Syncopators, and before many weeks had passed were a necessary organization in the school. This orchestra had a great deal to do with bringing large crowds to the hour dances. They furnished a combination (a la mode) of good, peppy, sweet, and melodious music. The students enjoyed the music played by these syncopating lads, and showed their appreciation by turning out in force. Esce Silverman with his ready fiddle led these boys through a most successful season. Russell Wood hammered away the semester on the piano. Victor Turrill did some fancy scale climbing to fame with his clarion cornet. Roy Durkee blew some sweet tones with his gold plastered sax. Bert Swope got out some nice harmonies on his hornlet. Mister MacDonald certainly tapped away on his drums as though he had no other care in this world but to rat-tat and boom; then too, there was that elongated Arnold DeCamp with his more elongated trombone, playing as though the world's twirling depended on him. Remember when Al Gallup missed a note on his banjo now and then, because the girls stared at him so? Now trailing along comes our bass player, Llewellyn Decker, puffing as usual.

These boys well deserve the thanks of the school for their efforts in furnishing Eastern with dance music.

The orchestra was directed this year by the baton of Mr. John Stephens and although handicapped by a lack of complete instrumentation the group had a successful year.

The combined high school orchestras of Central and Eastern played at the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises as well as the Senior plays. GIRLS GLEE CLUB

Under the competent instruction of Mr. Chambers, the Glee Club has continued its work this year. At the beginning of school in the fall, entrance to the club was purely optional, but in January when the second semester opened, a vocal test was given to each applicant and he was placed either in the Glee Club or Chorus, according to the results. This proved to be a very fair and advisable method, giving everyone who desired special musical training an opportunity to enroll with the organization best suited to his needs.

The public appearances of the club were confined to auditorium programs.

THE CHORUS AND BOYS GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club this year, due to conflicting subjects, was most unusually small. Only five boys elected this work. These five were: Everett Campbell, Donald Hortin, Burton Swope, Philip Schwartz, and Clarence Murphy.

The chorons of mixed voices spent a profitable year of practice under the able direction of Mr. Chambers. Meetings were held every Tuesday and Friday during the ninth hour. Efforts were directed toward a group of folk songs and hymns, in addition to the chorus work for the operetta. Sophie Zdan was the very able accompanist.

The members are:

"IN HONOR OF VERGIL"

The year 1930 has been set aside for the Bimillennium Vergilianum celebration. Vergil was born in 70 B. C., exactly two thousand years ago. His masterpiece, the "Aeneid," is still read and recognized as the best of Latin verse and one of the world's finest epics.

Eastern's part in the celebration was the presentation of a play entitled "In Honor of Vergil." This play was given by the Vergil class, assisted by several other members of the Latin department, in the little auditorium, January 15. The students of all the Latin classes were the guests on this occasion.

At the opening of the play Dorothy, a high school girl, has been given the task of arranging an assembly program in honor of Vergil. Upon falling asleep she dreams that she has entered the underworld and is met by the Cumean Sibyll, who led Aeneas through the same region. With Aeneas' golden bough as a passport and the Sibyll as a guide she is introduced to all the women whom Vergil ever included in his writings. Upon awakening she realizes this dream will furnish material for her program and she happily sighs: "Wielder of the stateliest measure ever molded by the lips of man."

"OLD LADY 31"

In the Eastern Auditorium, December 6, 1929, the class of June, 1930, presented the play "Old Lady 31," a comedy in prologue and three acts, suggested by Louise Forsslund's novel.

The play centered around the life of an old couple, "Abe," as portrayed by Kenneth Mooney, and "Angie," by Marjorie MacDonald. These two characters were well chosen and their earnest efforts did much towards making the play a success.

As is usual in an old ladies' home, we find some old maids. This time there are three—"Blossy," played by Myrtle Miller, "Nancy Smith," taken by Winifred King, and "Sarah Jane," portrayed by Leah Hyler. Blossy, the most fortunate of the three, succeeded in marrying "Sam Darby," an old sea captain, a part well filled by Hart Sinclair.

The matron of the home is a sweet, middle aged lady, who tries to agree with everybody and yet not cause any arguments. The character, "Abigail," was taken by Winifred Foote.

No play would be complete without a young couple, so we find "Mary" played by Helen Howald, and "John" by Vernon Urie.

Oh, yes—we must not forget the woman hater. This time it was an Irishman named "Mike," and played by Eldon Bannen.

"Granny" and "Elizabeth" were small roles but without these the play would have been less successful. Helen Patterson and Elizabeth Shigley were cast in these parts.

The play concerned the lives of Angie and Abe who were forced to leave their home and go to the old ladies' home. At various points in the play humorous situations arise. The parts were so well taken that the audience really lived the play with the cast until the final curtain.

This play was directed by Miss Aleath Garrity, assisted by Miss Margaret Winters, both of the English Department.

A Critical Moment

FOOTBALL SEASON REVIEW

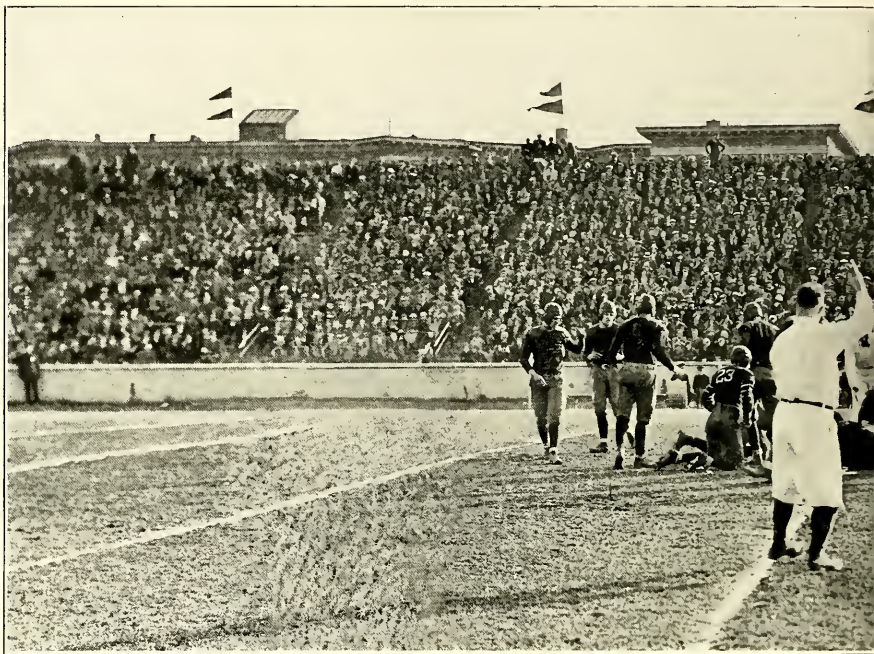

Judging from their athletic title of "Quaker" the Lansing team residing on Pennsylvania Avenue would be a meek and peaceful people. But the 1929 record proves otherwise. They earned an additional name and before the end of the season might well be called the "Fighting Quakers."

Coach Graff's call for men in September met with a good response and the outlook for a successful football season was bright. Not even the prospect of an unusually strong schedule could lessen their optimism.

The first two games of the season were won by Eastern but the third was lost to Bay City. It seemed that their luck stayed behind when they went from home. The three following games, however, gave Eastern the big end of the score—the Saginaw Arthur Hill game 18-6; Detroit Southeastern 20-0; Flint 7-0.

The Benton Harbor game was the hardest fought of the season. The visitors made a touchdown and the point kick, followed closely by a touchdown by Eastern. But the kick which would have tied the game was unsuccessful and the final score was 7-6. The following week the Quakers held Ann Arbor scoreless while they themselves piled up 25 points.

As in 1928 the field was again in poor condition for the final tilt with Central High. Both teams were in excellent shape for that exciting tussle. The game was filled with rousing plays. The crowds were raised to their feet with one accord when Fiddler emerged from the anonymous mass with the ball and passed it to Pierce, who found a clear runway to the goal. The game ended with a 6-0 score. The result of the game was Eastern's capture of the much prized city championship trophy, which was originally presented by the National Hat Shop, and which was in Central's possession the previous year.

KIBBY (CAPT.), GUARD

Kibby was the captain of the Quakers for the 1929 season, and a mighty good one, too. The lineman always had a hard job when opposing Bob Kibby. Bob certainly did his portion toward keeping Eastern in the race for the State title.

MILLER, CENTER

"Lefty" played in every game, much to the regret of opposing centers, who were outplayed by Miller in every game. He certainly grew hot in the Benton Harbor and Central games. Miller intercepted several passes in the Central game and kept the play on Central's territory most of the time.

ROSS, TACKLE

Ross was named captain for Graff's 1930 football squad. "Chet" played a stellar game all season and allowed very few gains through his post. He was a tower of strength in the line, and a very capable player.

HOWEY, TACKLE

Howey was a big surprise to everybody. When he was first practicing for the team he was not considered very seriously, but this tall senior later displayed great form, and was given his chance. It is needless to say that he made it. Any lineman who faced him knows that.

PRICCO, END

Hugo is the boy who brought the crowd to its feet when he snatched those passes for long gains. Pricco was plenty fast also, and got down under punts in great fashion. He will be back for the 1930 grid team.

PIERCE, END

Do you remember that pass that won the Central-Eastern game? Pierce is the end who received it from Fiddler and crossed the last chalk mark for the 6-0 victory over Central. Pierce was a steady player, and a good one, who will be back for the coming season.

HOFF, HALFBACK

Hoff is that speedy halfback who gained more yardage than any other Quaker, during the 1929 season. He made those thrilling off-tackle slants, and was a wow as an open field runner, many times leaving a tackler far behind.

JOHENGEN, HALFBACK

Bruce played a great game at half, all year, clicking with great regularity. He scored nearly all of Eastern's points after touchdowns. Johengen was a deadly tackler; when he got his hands on a man, he held him! Yes, Johengen will be back next year.

DEAN, FULLBACK

Dean is like a ton of brick when he hits the line, and don't think he isn't! He went double-hot in the game against Benton Harbor, striking the Harborites' line like a steam engine and mowing them down like a scythe. Dean will be back to bother opponents next season.

FIDDLER, HALFBACK

Ed Fiddler can throw passes, as perhaps you know. His passes paved the way for the first touchdown that had been made against Benton Harbor up to the time we played them. Ed's pass to Pierce resulted in the victory over Central. Fiddler can run, too, as he demonstrated several times.

BRIGHAM, GUARD

Although not playing in so many games as some of the other members of the team, Stan certainly gave a mighty fine exhibition of football when he played. Stan was another of the stalwart line of Eastern, and a fine defensive player.

LYNCH, END

Harold Lynch was a good end, a scrappy player, and in the brunt of the battle all the time. Lynch will be back for the 1930 roundup and should make good on the first squad. He was a substitute end in the latter part of the 1929 season, but a regular at first.

VANDERLIP, FULLBACK

Vanderlip was one of the high scorers of the state. He smashed through the opposition for 17 touchdowns and a total of 102 points. Fritz did most of the punting for Eastern's gridiron team.

CAMPION, QUARTERBACK

"Chuck" was the pilot of the team in the first few games, and did a good job of it. Campion showed his heels to many a speedy opponent. He was excellent on the forward passes, and was a good punter.

KRUSZEWSKI, TACKLE

Jolnny was only a Soph, but what a Soph! He played some fine games when he was in the lineup, and was a real getter. Kruszewski will probably be a regular this coming season, which bodes little good to opposing linemen.

JOHNSON, GUARD

Johnson was a fine guard and was in the thick of the battle all the time. Frank was a wow on defense, and bore down on the opposite line with great consistency. He sure won his letter by the sweat of his brow. Don't believe it? Ask Frank!

TURRILL, HALFBACK

Vic Turrill, last, but far from least, was one of the speedy backfield men, who held a regular berth. He was responsible for many gains on tackle plays. His dodging ability and fast running helped to no little extent.

RESERVE FOOTBALL TEAM

The "Little Quaker" reserves started out the season as though there was no opposition strong enough for them. The first game played was with the Central reserves. Our team came out victorious, 6-0. The next three games, with the School for the Blind, Okemos, and a return game with Central were easily won. But then they met their Waterloo. The hard hitting Industrial School took the measure of our reserves, 25-0. Although the game was ragged at times, it was hard fought. The nucleus for future Quaker varsity will undoubtedly be built up with some of the "Little Quakers."

Boom rah, rah rah rah,
Eastern High,
Boom rah, rah rah rah,
Eastern High.

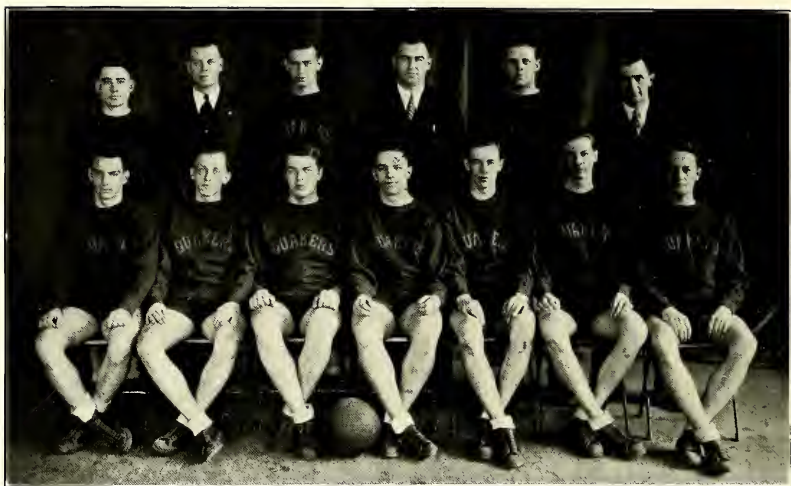

Saturday afternoon: bannors flying, colors waving, trumpets blowing, horns tooting, drums beating, snow flying; in fact, everything to make a perfect setting for a fall football game. This was the day of the Central-Eastern game. The two schools had their annual football clash on November 23, 1929. In the previous year Central picked up a blocked punt and won the game 6-0.

When the opening whistle blew, Eastern was defending the east goal. Vanderlip immediately made the initial first down. The first quarter ended with the ball on Central's 38 yard line. At the beginning of the second quarter Vanderlip made a first down on Central's 27 yard line and then on the 15 yard line. When it looked as if Eastern was going across the goal, Central's defense strengthened and the first half ended scoreless.

The third quarter also ended with a score of 0-0. Eastern, however, dominated the play in the last quarter. Vanderlip and Fiddler pushed the ball to Central's 11 yard line where it was lost on downs. Neuman of Central punted and Fiddler was downed on Central's 33 yard mark. Pierce then took a 15 yard pass from Fiddler and ran 17 yards for the only touchdown of the game. The game ended 6-0 in favor of the Quakers.

A review of the game shows that Central gained but 13 yards from scrimmage to Eastern's 194 yards. Central made one first down, Eastern eight. Both teams played an excellent game.

Between the halves, the Eastern and Central bands entertained. Each in turn formed its school letter and played the school song as the spectators sang. This was the occasion for the Eastern band's first appearance in their new uniforms and the first public singing of the new school song "Hail Eastern."

BASKETBALL SEASON REVIEW

The Eastern quintet opened the season with a decided victory. Charlotte was the loser by a score of 57 to 9. Two complete teams saw action in this game, with all players showing good form.

On December 21, Eastern lost to the alumni by a score of 20 to 19.

The second game scheduled for the Eastern basketball team was with Pontiac. The boys did not have much trouble in downing them with a score of 30 to 17. Captain Vanderlip led the scoring.

One of the best exhibitions of a rally was staged at Grand Rapids Creston on January 11. Behind at the third quarter 21 to 14, Eastern came back to trim Creston by a score of 27 to 23. Vanderlip and Miller took the scoring honors for Eastern but all the boys played a fine game.

The Bay City team was defeated on the following night at Eastern's gymnasium by a score of 15 to 11. Hugo Pricco, Dave Williams, and "Lefty" Miller played exceptionally well.

On January 18, the Quaker Quintet defeated Muskegon Heights in a very good game, 19 to 14. Muskegon, previous to this, had won six straight games. "Lefty" Miller was the scoring star.

Battle Creek fell before Eastern in an easy game ending with the score 33 to 19. Coach Graff used two complete teams in this game. Captain Vanderlip and Miller shared in the honors of high scoring.

In the next game Eastern easily defeated Central 26 to 13. This game marked the last appearance of Captain Vanderlip who led the Quakers to victory in seven games.

The next game with Saginaw Eastern was a hard fought battle, ending 27 to 25 after four over-time periods. Scores by Miller and Williams kept Eastern even with Saginaw in the over-time periods and a goal by Ed Fiddler won the game for the Quakers.

Eastern won its ninth straight game by defeating Kalamazoo Central 16 to 15. There was little scoring in the first half but in the second half better basketball was played. Dave Williams played a fine game, with Miller taking the scoring honors.

Eastern's first defeat came on February 8, with Ann Arbor 18 to 15. Ann Arbor's ability to pull Eastern out of their accustomed zone defense was responsible for the defeat. Leo Pricco and Miller shared scoring honors.

Eastern's second victory over Central this season came February 14. The game was very interesting from start to finish, ending 19 to 14. Leo Pricco and Miller led the scoring, while Hugo Pricco and Bruce Johengen played fine games as guards.

Eastern's next two games were with Mt. Clemens and Grosse Pointe, the Quakers winning both games with scores of 33 to 10 and 25 to 8, respectively. The season closed with a victory over Saginaw Arthur Hill 21 to 20. Miller took the high score honor with the Pricco brothers following. Hugo Pricco and Johengen played fine defensive games.

TENNIS SEASON REVIEW

Before 1929, no team had ever represented a Lansing high school on the tennis courts. At that time, however, Mr. Fox of the mathematics department, himself a city tennis champion, organized such a team. The tennis season started the first of March, with twenty-five men out for practice. Since it was the first school tennis team in the city, there was no veteran material. Only one player, Rex Norris, had had any tournament experience.

After the tie with Owosso on their courts, the team began to show rapid improvement. The following games with Flint Northern and Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills were very close, but the last two dual matches, with Lansing Central and Jackson, were quite one-sided victories.

Eastern entered the Regional Tournament held at Central High School, Ypsilanti, where twelve class A and B schools of Southeastern Michigan competed. Eastern's team strength was shown in this two-day struggle, when they won nineteen of the twenty-three matches played to take the team championship. The singles championship went to Fred Vanderlip after six long matches. Vanderlip and Norris won the doubles championship as the result of five wins. Korney reached the semi-finals in singles, and paired with Large to reach the doubles semi-finals.

At the State Tournament held at the Michigan State Normal College of Ypsilanti, the doubles championship was won by Vanderlip and Norris. The 1928 doubles champions, Grand Rapids South, were met and defeated in a hard-fought semi-final match by scores of 6-4; 4-6; 6-4. Eastern was runner-up to Grand Rapids South in the team matches, and received the second place trophy.

The attractive figure on the left is the trophy won at the regional tournament. The loving cup was awarded to the team as runner-up in the state tournament.

TRACK

Eastern High's initial track team was one to be proud of. The team entered the first meet, an invitational meet at Albion, and came home with the trophy. They won two meets at Flint: a quadrangular meet and the regional tournament. Not satisfied with having made many records for Eastern, including regional records, the team went on to make a state record.

Jack Hernly won first place in the javelin throw at the state meet and second place at the national meet held in Chicago. Hoff won fourth place in the high hurdles at the state meet held at East Lansing.

EASTERN SWIMMERS

Captain "Whity" Ruonavaara! What a large title for such a small fellow to carry around. He seems to be doing it successfully, though, for he was high point man of this year's swimming team. Leave it the little Norseman to get behind a thing and push it over the top. He made a total of 79¼ points, swimming in the free style and breast-stroke events for the school this year. His best times for the season were :25.4 seconds, which he made in the fifty yard free style event; 1:06.1 for the 100-yard free style; and 1:18.9 for the 100-yard breast-stroke.

Of course you know the school's handsomest swimmer, Lane Jessop. He starred in the 220-yard free style and swam as lead-off man in the sprint relay. He was not far behind the captain in his total points, as he made 54¼ for good old Eastern. He made his best time, which was 2:35.6, at the invitational meet at Ann Arbor. He is to be part of the co-captaining of next year's team.

Then there is Gail Peck who kept company with Lane in the 220-yard free style event throughout the entire season. Gail's big surprise and high-light of the year was the time he defeated Daggett of Central. This crawlstroke's best time was 2:45, and he made a total of 20 points during the season.

Of course we can't forget Matthew Palick. "Matt" helped to put the sprint relay team on the records when he was able to break away from his girls. He also swam in the 100-yard freestyle. His best time for the year in that event was 1:03.7. He totaled 33¼ points for the season.

Now try and picture a long, lanky six-footer with massive hands, huge feet, and to top it off, a shock of blond, becoming hair. This large fellow is John Takacs, who played a big part in helping the team win its meets. He swam back-stroke, and during the course of the year chalked up 34 points for the Quakers. John's best time in the 100-yard back-stroke was 1:14.2.

Do you know Robert Richmond? It isn't likely, for he is very quiet. This doesn't signify much, however. He sure can show plenty of speed and power in the swimming pool. You may often see him with lowered head and a carload of books beneath his arm, hurrying down the hall. "Bob" swam in the sprint relay and 50-yard free style events. His best time was :26.7 seconds. He scored 23½ points for the team.

There is that fellow, Thomas Morris, who thought he could swim back-stroke, and used to play "you chase me and I'll chase you" with John Takacs. Tom swam in the 100-yard back-stroke event, and vied with John for the privilege of swimming in the medley relay. The best time he turned in for the 100-yard race was 1:13.8. He cut the 50-yard sprint in 33.1 seconds. His total number of points for the season was 35 5/12. He is to be the other part of the co-captaining for next season.

There is another group of swimmers that a swimming team can't get along without, and they are those who swim the breast-stroke. One of these important fellows is Casper Strong, that handsome Senior B who goes out for very nearly everything and manages to hold on to the same girl at the same time (no reflections on the girl). Casper helped the team along by making 23 points. His best time in the 100-yard event was 1:21.6.

Berkeley McConnell is another one of those quiet fellows—at times. Those are usually during school hours. He never has an armful of books, although he does manage to carry a book now and then. Not that he doesn't study—but why talk about that here. "Berk" is another breast-stroker. He swam the 100-yard race in 1:20.8. His total points numbered 23.

Victor Price was our diver for the first two meets, and in every one of them he took a first place. It was too bad that the team had to lose him in the middle of the season. A first place in diving every meet helps any team.

Now you ask, "What about the reserve men?" Here's your answer: They are very good. In fact they are so good that they pushed the first string men all year. Mr. Winston expects much from them next season. Prospective letter men for next year and the following season are Wingerter, Sirhal, Strauss, Skidmore, Brightman, Long, Abent, Switzer, Bissell, McDonald, Betts, English, and Gingras. Every one of these fellows gave this year's letter men good, stiff competition. Watch them next winter!

BOYS INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

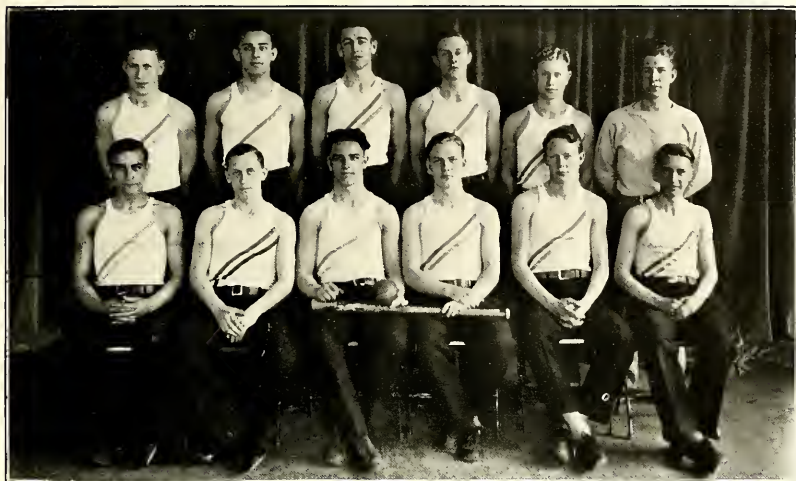

Interclass basketball championship for fall 1929 went to the Senior B class. Fred Vanderlip was the manager for this team, and the players were as follows: Robert Cramer, center; Wade Moore, forward; Revell Hopkins, forward; Earl Clark, guard; Albert Warren, guard; John Stauffer, Allen Barnes, Stanley Brower, Robert Satterla, and Philip Schwartz were substitutes for the team.

All the teams showed a fair standing with the exception of the Sophomore B class team, which lost all of its games. The Senior A team was the closest rival of the winner, and gave the Senior B's some anxious moments.

The games were not without an audience; many a noon-time lunch received scant appreciation in the eater's haste to be off for the gym to encourage his class team to victory.

These interclass basketball games are of value in giving the players exercise and in training them to become well acquainted with the rules of the game. It gives them a background from which to work their way to the school team. Thus, while the games afford good noontime sport they also give valuable practice to those who will probably play on the school team later in their school life.

BOYS INDOOR BASEBALL

The 12A indoor baseball team was the winner of the second season inter-class baseball. The games were played during the fifth and sixth hours, furnishing good entertainment for the onlookers and valuable exercise for the contestants. Class spirit ran high and each player was on his toes either to help or prevent a score from getting in, as the occasion demanded. The deciding game between the Senior A's and B's was especially exciting; and the B's fought desperately to tie the 5-6 score but were not successful.

GIRLS INTERCLASS BASEBALL

The 12A's captured the school championship by winning all their games. This is the second year that this class has won baseball honors. Most of the games were hotly contested and, as in the case of the 12A-12B game, a tie had to be played off. Because of the lack of practice, most of the players were rather ragged, but the spirit was always of the best and good sportsmanship was shown by all participants.

The manager of the team was Muriel Cramer, one of the best and steadiest players on the team, who played second base. Mary Gable and Anita Maatsch did the pitching, with Gwendolyn Green catching. These four were the backbone of the team. The other players were Bernice Wardwell, Dorothy Werback, Arlene West and Geraldine Neff.

The following table gives the standings of the six teams:

GIRLS BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

The 11A girls' basketball team, the champions of the school, went through the season with no defeats to mar their record. The team consisted of Manager Bernice Heller and Helen Erhardt, guards; Gertrude Mahoney and Florence Roe, forwards; Amber Shaffer, jumping center; Margaret Shaddock, running center. Edith Dixon and Lucy Shaul were very capable substitutes. The guarding of Heller and Erhardt was outstanding and one of the main reasons for the team's success. The forwards also played exceedingly well together.

The 12B's were runners-up, losing only to the champions. The following table shows the standings of the six teams.

GIRLS TRACK TEAM

The track meet held last spring terminated in a decisive victory for the Junior A Class. Only three classes were represented, and those were 10A, 11B, and 11A. The girls lacked preparation and the speed was poor, but it offered class competition, and gave the present Senior A class another championship.

The results of the meet were:

50 Yard Dash: M. Cramer, 1st; F. Roe and M. Simpson, tied for 2nd;
D. Werback, 4th. Time :07.

75 Yard Dash: A. West, 1st; G. Mahoney, 2nd; C. Lutz, 3rd; A. Maatsch,

GIRLS SWIMMING MEET

The Girls' Swimming Meet held in February, 1929, was an 11A triumph because of the fact that no other team appeared to compete against the invincible team. The victorious team consisted of girls who are now members of the Senior A class.

For the purpose of setting records, the girls competed against one another. While the time was not good, it was something by which the girls might gauge their speed. The results are as follows:

100 Yard Sprint Relay	- - - - -	1:08.6

THE SOCIAL LIFE OF AN ATHLETE

By An Athlete

Some brain-fogged athlete once soliloquized, "For dear old Rutgers I'd die." This has also been said of Dear Old Eastern by numerous quasi athletes: Ed Fiddler forsakes his bowling alleys and pool rooms to rush for the football and basketball turn out; Lefty Miller even forsakes his social obligations and rushes poor Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Graff for his equipment. Then there is Vic Turrill, who leaves his cornet for the sweaty headgear of the football field, and passes up too many dance invitations to mention, just to run his head off for Dear Eastern. Vic, being the Beau Bromell of the Athletes, misses his social life. It's a deep and dangerous career he is running—but Vic doesn't know that.

On a recent trip Chet Ross and Pricco swiped all the knives they could get hold of in a restaurant. They told Mr. Graff that they were afraid Lefty and Ed would cut their mouths eating peas.

On one of the basketball trips, in order to keep up socially so that they could compete well with other Easternites on the ball room floor, the boys requested Coach Graff and Mr. Wheeler to stop at all the various dance pavilions enroute to and from the games. It is said that at one of these stops Johengen and Pricco out-shone their team mates so far that the coach had to use three substitutes in their places at the game.

It is claimed that the basketball and football teams know lots of keen flappers in Mount Clemens (and clean—that's where they have the Hot Baths, you know). When the team arrived there, Fred Vanderlip couldn't be found. Finally he was located in one of the Baths. Bar room ballads are not sung any more, but if Kipling were alive he would write an "Ode to the Athlete, the Social Lion."

Into the shadow
 recedes the mystic temple, as Aladd is enticed from the
 glories of learning.
 Hidden censers
 perfume the air
 with sweet intoxication of joy and love. The happy strains of flute and lyre incite youth
 to careless frolic.

HAIL EASTERN

Lucille Kennedy. Russell A Wood.

come Eastern boost our team, our football heroes bold and we'll be off to victory, 'neath banners blue and gold now let's get to-gether - and raise our colors high join in with our voices to sound the battle cry chorus
 Hail! Eastern High school Hail Hail to thee with thy banners streaming, march on to victory - Juniors, Sophs + seniors all join in and try we will win for Eastern, We will do or die
 Give the team a big yell, yell with all our might Come on Quakers, shout our fight! fight! fight!
 lift the colors higher, to them we'll all be true
 Hail Eastern High school, We will win for you.

Eastern High students acknowledge in this way their gratitude to Russell Wood '30, composer of the school song, "Hail Eastern," and to Lucille Kennedy '30, who wrote the accompanying words.

ALL IN A DAY

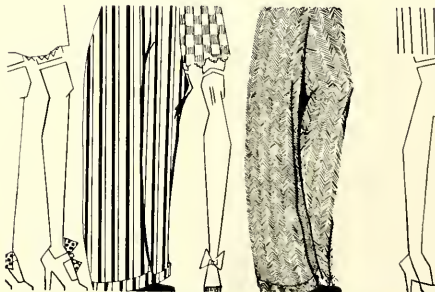

I never liked a lazy man,
His view of life I hate,
But I'd never get up on Monday
If it wasn't for being late.

I like punctuality,
But when I see a peach,
I'm never very sure
My destination I'll reach.

To be patient is a virtue
When waiting in a line,
Especially when your luncheon
Must cost you but a dime.

"Waste not the moments given ye,"
Is good and sound advice,
That's why I always study hard
Before the bell rings thrice.

ALL IN A DAY

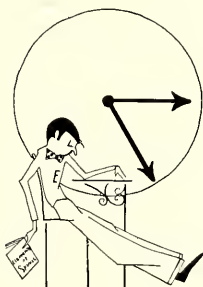

I don't care for social rooms
And here's the reason why:
I sat in "conference" with Bob's girl
And now have a nice black eye.

The end of a perfect day
Is four o'clock in the morning;
By then I have said "good-bye"
And get home when day is dawning.

Sleep and forget your troubles,
A rule I always keep,
And spend the whole ninth hour
In good refreshing sleep.

I hate to study for a test
The night before,
For it necessitates taking
Home books galore.

All work, no play would make life dull;
That's why I take a chance
On copying all my lessons,
And go to Margy's dance.

LANTERN LITERS

John Young—"I say, driver, what is the average life of a locomotive?"

Driver—"Oh, about thirty years, sir."

John—"I should think such a tough-looking thing would last longer than that."

Driver—"Well, perhaps it would, if it didn't smoke so much."

Red drives to school every morning in a much dilapidated auto.

"What kind of a car have you got there, Red?"

"R. F. D.," was the answer.

"R. F. D.?"

"Yep. Rescued from the Dump."

Van Liere—"If a farmer sold 1,470 bushels of wheat at $3.17 a bushel, what would he get?"

Lyle Huntoon—"An automobile."

"Dub" Little (to passing motorist)—"Hi, mister, I'm going your way."

Motorist—"So I see; but I'll get there before you will."

Glen Wise—"And poor Harry was killed by a revolving crane."

Kurt Zander (when he first came here)—"My word! What fierce birds you have in America."

Esee Silverman—A few minutes after an alarm of fire rang in a hotel, he joined a group watching the fire and chafed them on their appearance and apparent excitement. "There was nothing to be excited about," he said. "I took my time about dressing; didn't like the knot in my necktie, so I tied it over again—that's how cool I was."

Mike Spaniolo—"Fine, but why didn't you put on your trousers?"

Henry Huyser—"Since I bought my car I don't have to walk to the bank to make any deposits."

Lyle Huntoon—"Ah, you ride there?"

Henry—"No, I don't make any."

Florence Stowell—"I think he's the meanest man on earth."

Helen—"Why?"

Florence—"I've made up my mind to refuse and he won't even propose to me."

Wheeler—"I tell my wife everything that happens."

Van Liere—"That's nothing, I tell my wife lots of things that don't happen."

Miss Smith—"This is the third time you've looked on Norveta's paper."

Ed F.—"Yes, ma'am, she doesn't write very well."

Wheeler—"Do you know the difference between a cat and a match?"

Graft—"One scratches itself and you have to scratch the other?"

Wheeler—"Wrong. One lights on its feet and the other lights on its head."

John S.—"The photographers never do me justice."

Marjorie—"You want mercy, not justice."

Peterman (to his wife)—"Where are you going to eat?"

Mrs. Peterman—"Let's eat up the street."

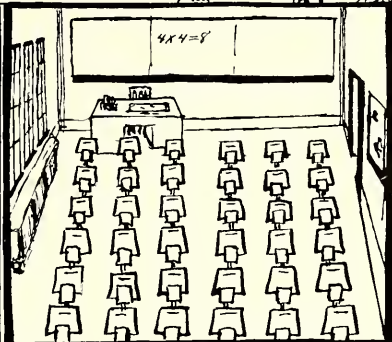

Peterman—"Aw, no; I don't like asphalt."

THINK THIS OVER

Prestige by merit is worthy and stands the Acid Test of Public Opinion.

An L. B. U. Training lends prestige, coming from years of established training of young folks and contact with the business public. Over sixty years in business -- this fact has its value.

A graduate from L. B. U. is given consideration by the employing public.

Many employers are former L. B. U. students.

Two Books!!

First, the "LANTERN," which, thanks to the splendid efforts of an enterprising staff, is a great book this year—and one every graduate will want to keep and refer to when in a reminiscent mood.

Then there is another book—one with less pages and pictures to be sure—but mighty important just the same—helps a person get ahead in the world in fact. We refer, of course, to your bank book!

Here's hoping that each one of you has learned the value of saving!

Progress

A CITY'S schools perhaps more than any one other thing reflect the character and progress of the city itself. And in "Eastern High" Lansing has an institution which is indeed a fine monument to the progressive character of our city. It is a place which we like to point out to visitors—and one which makes us wish we hadn't graduated so soon ourselves.

To be sure there are other evidences of the town's forwardness—the remarkable growth of our industrial enterprises—the many new buildings and homes, including the new bank tower—and, if you will pardon our modest pride—the Hotel Olds, a modern hostelry in the very center of the town.

The Hotel Olds

Geo. L. Crocker, Manager

TO DESIGN
PROGRESSIVELY

TO BUILD
FAITHFULLY

TO SELL
HONESTLY

TO SERVICE
SINCERELY

... That Every Owner Shall Be a Friend

The very nucleus of the Oldsmobile-Viking policy pledged to progress is fair and friendly dealing with the purchasers of Oldsmobile and Viking cars.

This policy becomes effective long before these cars are offered to the public—long before they are even built. And it continues to operate long after they are sold—in the form of service to Oldsmobile-Viking owners.

Briefly, the policy resolves itself into four parts—four responsibilities which Olds Motor Works recognizes toward every owner . . . to design progressively; to build faithfully; to sell honestly; to service sincerely.

Sound, progressive design is assured by the industry and intelligence of a capable engineering staff—backed by the vast resources of Olds Motor Works and the General Motors Research Laboratories and Proving Ground.

Faithful manufacture results from strict allegiance to the Oldsmobile-Viking pledge, "Anything short of my best is not acceptable."

Absolute honesty in advertising and in selling is born of perfect confidence in a good product which is priced fairly.

Finally, because good service goes hand in hand with a good product, Oldsmobile-Viking supports its dealers in maintaining one of the broadest service policies in existence today.

Olds Motor Works values the good will of the public above all other considerations. And Olds Motor Works firmly pledges itself to this policy of progress in order that public confidence may continue to exist, and to grow with the years . . . in order that every Oldsmobile-Viking owner shall be a friend.

As flowers complete Spring—wheels by Motor Wheel are a complement to car beauty.

There is something convincing in the style; something distinguished in the design; something compelling in the quality.

Whether wood, wire or steel, wheels by Motor Wheel add to car attraction and bring action to car sales.

To a proper appreciation of this added value, Motor Wheel owes its continued leadership.
